The Emerald Cities Collaborative (ECC) is a national non-profit organization comprised of a powerful network of national and local community, climate justice, energy, labor, policy, and business organizations and advocates. ECC partners are united around the goal of building high-road regional economies that are sustainable, just, democratic, and publicly accountable. ECC envisions a future in which American cities are the greenest and most equitable in the world, tackling global climate change while creating a vital new economic sector with low-income and communities of color as central actors and beneficiaries.

Founded in 2009, ECC has built a movement of change agents who’ve demonstrated that an equitable, high-road approach is the best path to a sustainable, just future. ECC has proven that multi-stakeholder, intersectional models work across core focus areas of Energy Efficiency/Clean Energy, Water & Food, Economic Inclusion, Community Climate Resilience, and Participatory Democracy & Climate Justice.
